

You are Jody. Born and raised in Rutland Vermont, you had a middle class upbringing as the child of a hard working nurse.

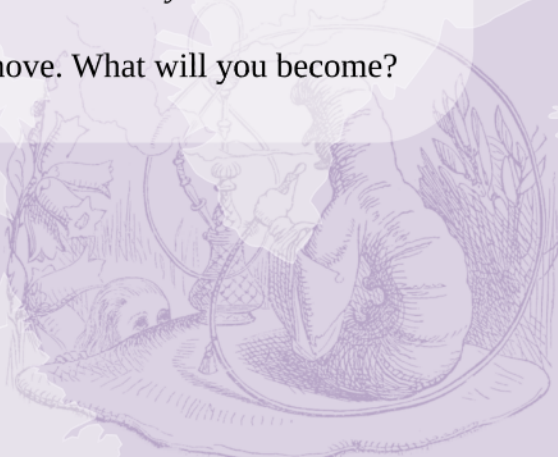

Graduating into May 2026 with no solid prospects, you head out to California for a quick gig running a large computer simulation.

Through a series of traps and turns, you land down a rabbit hole to find yourself at the center of a real-time war game.

As the last pawn playing for nonproliferation, your are propositioned by a shadowy group to answer the world's most pressing question:

What are The Monterey Protocols?

It's your move. What will you become?
